5.2 Volunteer Onboarding

All successful volunteer applicants are required to undertake an induction to the role and any other relevant training provided by ALONE or an outside source, at induction or anytime thereafter. 5.3 Volunteer Roles & Responsibilities

ALONE volunteers play a significant role in the support of Older People we work with. The Older People and ALONE depend on volunteers to attend their role. It is expected that volunteers will attend their roles as agreed and will inform the organization in advance of or as soon as possible about any absences. This is to ensure no Older Person misses out on the support provided by our organisation. With the support of ALONE staff and training provided, volunteers are expected to utilize all technical supports available and endorsed by ALONE in the performance of their volunteer role.

5.4 Volunteer Supports

ALONE takes all practical steps to safeguard the health, safety and welfare of Older People, volunteers and staff. All roles undergo a risk assessment, and adequate measures are put in place to ensure health and safety risks are taken into consideration.

ALONE understands the great value volunteers bring to our organisation and the need to provide them with support. Each volunteer has a designated contact person in ALONE who they can speak to, volunteer communications are issued on a regular basis, and additionally check-in calls to volunteers take place several times a year.

Volunteers are the driving force of ALONE. Recognition is our way to show our volunteers how we value and respect them. It is vital for us to ensure volunteers are made aware of the difference being made by them.

ALONE is committed to continuous improvement and one of the ways we achieve this is through obtaining feedback from our volunteers. We welcome feedback at any time and aim to address any concerns as soon as they arise. We also conduct an annual volunteer feedback survey to assist with our evaluation of ALONE's volunteer program.
